NURSE'S TESTIMONY
HELPLESS TO STATE

Mrs. Schenk Admitted She Did Not Love Husband.

MANY EVIDENCES OF POISON

Pharmacist, Expert Chemist, and Family Physician All on Stand.
Prosecution Will Seek to Show
Where Poisons Were Purchased and When—Furniture Tellers See.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 12.—Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, on trial on a charge of poisoning her husband, John O. Schenk, fully expected him to die, and told the attending physicians that she would be better satisfied if they would let him die instead of trying to restore him to health. These points have thus far been scored by the State. To-day the State scored again, when Miss Alma J. Evans, a nurse who attended Mr. Schenk during his illness, testified that Mrs. Schenk had told her she did not love her husband; that he was too old, and that she would prefer some young society man.

Miss Evans was on the stand until late in the afternoon, being followed by Herbert O. Baer, a pharmacist; Dr. Charles Glazer, expert chemist of the Johns Hopkins, of Baltimore, and Dr. F. L. Hupp, Dr. Hupp was recalled to identify bottles containing water hyacinth and quinine and malina cascarilla, which the State claims were adulterated with arsenic and used to lead by Mrs. Schenk. Dr. Baer testified to seeing the bottles and shipping them to the Johns Hopkins Institute, and Dr. Glazer testified to the analysis he made of the contents.

Nurse Tells of Suspicion.
On direct examination at the hands of State's Attorney J. B. Handlan, Miss Evans said that she was called to the Schenk home to nurse Mr. Schenk on October 15, 1910. Two days after her arrival, she said her suspicions were aroused by the violent vomiting spells that would visit Mr. Schenk almost immediately after he would take a drink from the water provided for him.

"Mr. Schenk," said the witness, "complained about the peculiar taste of the water, and to satisfy him that it was all right I took a drink from the bottle. Half an hour later I vomited violently. Then I informed Dr. Hupp of my suspicions and Mr. Schenk was removed to the hospital."

Questioned by Mr. Handlan, Miss Evans said Mrs. Schenk seemed possessed with a fear that Albert Schenk, a brother of her husband, was trying to do her harm. "Once," said Miss Evans, "Mrs. Schenk said to me, 'Mr. Schenk is seriously ill. Dr. Hupp tells me he is liable to drop dead at any time. Now, as soon as you see the breath is out of him, you go to his points and get the key to his safe deposit box. If you don't, I am afraid Albert Schenk will get them, and then he'll cheat me out of my rights.' Mrs. Schenk seemed certain that her husband was going to die."

Visits to Fortune Tellers.
The witness testified that Mrs. Schenk had told her about frequent visits to fortune tellers, who told her Mr. Schenk was going to die.

"What did Mrs. Schenk say when you asked her if she did not feel terrible over what the fortune tellers told her?" asked Mr. Handlan.

"She said worse things could happen than this," replied the witness. "Did Mrs. Schenk ever tell you she did not love her husband?"

"Yes," the witness answered, "she said she didn't love him because he was too old. She said she would prefer to have some young society blood."

A rigid cross-examination conducted by Attorney J. J. P. O'Brien did not shake the story told by Miss Evans on direct examination.

Dr. Glazer testified that the sample of drinking water sent to him for analysis contained 11 grains of arsenic to the half gallon. Previous testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Schenk had drunk about three glasses of the water.

The bottle of arsenic contains the chemical found to contain estimate of lead in sufficient quantities to kill.

WOUNDED BY GIRL.
SUICIDE ATTEMPTED.

Student Probably Fatally Shot and Suicide Attempted.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12.—Carl V. Storey, a student at the University of Illinois, but whose home is at Columbus, this State, was shot and fatally wounded in the Braden Hotel late this afternoon by Alice Poehler, formerly of Guthrie, Ind.

The girl fired one shot into Storey's body, the bullet entering near the heart, and, thinking she had killed him, she turned the pistol on herself, sending a bullet into her own body near the heart.

Storey and the girl were found lying on the floor desperately wounded, but conscious. The girl refused to make any statement, and Storey was in so much pain that he could not talk.

RIOTERS ARE KILLED.

Disturbances at Religious Festival
in Bombay.

Bombay, Jan. 12.—In consequence of disturbances which attended the Mahomedan festival of Mohurram yesterday the police forbade a procession that was to have been held to-day. A mob stoned the police and rioted generally. Many persons were injured. Troops were summoned, and they fired a volley at the rioters, killing eleven and wounding fourteen.

MAY END MYSTERY OF HALF CENTURY

Finding of Bones Recalls
Wedding Day Episode.

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 12.—The mystery of the disappearance of Eugene Woodmansee on the day that he was to be married in 1867 is believed to be solved by the finding of an old trunk with parts of his body in it in what was an old road house at the time. An excavation under the house was made to-day as the result of finding some human bones just under the surface a few days ago.

In digging under the old house the spade was inserted under the lid of the trunk, which was in a rotten condition. When the lid was broken off a gruesome sight was presented. At the bottom was a skull, seven bones of the spinal column, all joined, in a curved line from the base of the skull, and one bone of each leg resting on the breastbone. The bones of the toes were on each side of the spinal bones.

At one side of the skull were the sole of the foot of an old shoe. A small bit of tissue paper was found with the capital letter "E" on it, seemingly written in ink. The paper crumbled to dust in the fingers of one of the workmen.

Woodmansee came here to marry Sarah Virt, and after reaching the city he went to the minister who was to perform the ceremony and arranged the details. His mother and father had come with him from their Illinois home to be present at the wedding. He was never seen after leaving the minister on the street.

The young man had a large sum of money on his person, and it is believed that he was murdered and parts of his body placed in the shoe trunk, and other parts buried in the ground near it.

BATTLE SHIP TEXAS
BECOMES A TARGET

First Time in History that a Big Vessel Is So Used.

TEST ONE OF GREAT INTEREST

Experiments at the Southern Drill
Grounds Off Hampton Roads About
April 1—High Explosive Projectiles
Will Be Fired Against the Old War
Ship in the Shoal Water.

The battle ship Texas, which has been out of commission for several years, will be used as a target at the annual target practice of the Atlantic fleet to be held on the Southern drill grounds off Hampton Roads, beginning on April 1 next.

It will be the first time in the history of the navy that an actual vessel has been used as a target for the big guns of the fleet. Heretofore a material target containing a canvas screen has been used for this purpose. The Texas is the first battle ship built for the United States navy. She is no longer of military value, however, and for some time has been at the Charleston (S. C.) Navy Yard.

High Explosive Projectiles.
A number of high explosive projectiles will be fired against the Texas in order to determine their action against the hull and superstructure at battle ranges.

It has not been decided whether or not any officers and men will remain on board the Texas during the practice. The ship will be conducted at a range of from 4,000 to 10,000 yards, to determine the effect of projectiles when striking the armor of a battle ship, and also the effect of under-water hits and under water trajectory, or a projectile falling short of the target.

It is the intention of the officers in charge of the target practice to anchor the Texas in shoal water at sea off the Cape of the Chesapeake Bay. Preparations will be made to prevent her from sinking in case she is badly damaged in the firing. The Texas will be taken to the Norfolk Navy Yard shortly to prepare for the test.

The cruiser Baltimore, now at Philadelphia, will be sent to Charleston to relieve the Texas, which for several years has been used as a barracks ship.

Below Waterline Test.
The firing will not only be the annual practice for the fleet, but an important ordnance experiment will be carried out. This will be for the purpose of determining the effect of projectiles striking the hull below the water line.

Ordnance experts are anxious to ascertain what effect the water will have on the flight of a projectile which strikes the surface before reaching the target vessel and which takes a downward course toward the hull of the ship. If shots can be controlled, it is likely that the projectile will strike the hull below the water line armor belt of an ordinary battle ship. If this can be accomplished, it will necessitate more extensive armoring of the hull of a battle ship. Similar experiments are now in progress in the British navy.

The battle ship Texas was built at the Norfolk Navy Yard under the supervision of Francis T. Bowles, a former naval constructor. Mr. Bowles is now in the Coast Guard, and the ship is the only American battle ship which has her turret on an echelon.

A HEN IS NOT A HEN.

But an Egg Is Always an Egg, Says
Customs Court.

A hen is not a bird, in the opinion of the Court of Customs Appeals. In the view of the same court an egg is always an egg, whether it is in the shell, scrambled, boiled, or mixed with run.

The court, announced its opinion in these matters in deciding a case brought by importers of eggs from China. The importers brought over eggs, after shipping, in tin cans. They claimed that they should come in free since a provision in the tariff law providing that birds shall be duty free. "A hen," said the court, in substance, "is not a bird."

Then the importers claimed that the eggs were not birds, and that they should be duty free. The court said: "The tariff law provides that birds shall be duty free. A hen is not a bird, in the opinion of the court. An egg is always an egg, whether it is in the shell, scrambled, boiled, or mixed with run."

The court, in substance, said: "A hen is not a bird, in the opinion of the court. An egg is always an egg, whether it is in the shell, scrambled, boiled, or mixed with run."

ALEXANDRIA LOAN
COMPANY ASSIGNS

Building Association in Receivers' Hands.

SEQUEL TO BANK FAILURE

On Application of Directors, Court
Names Receivers for the Concern.
Many Depositors Involved—Other Banks Not Affected—Collapse of Trust Company Causes Assignment.

As a sequel to the closing of the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Company
two weeks ago, the Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association of Alexandria was placed in the hands of receivers yesterday. Application for receivers was made in the Circuit Court,
and Douglas Stuart and Lewis Hoof
were named by Judge J. B. T. Thornton.

Practically all of the depositors are Alexandrians, though there are many in other parts of Virginia and in Washington. The closing will not affect other banks of the city, according to statements of Alexandria financiers last night.

The application for receivers bore the names of F. F. Marbury, Lewis Hoof, John P. Robinson, and Laurence Stabler.
The association was formed in 1902, and had had a prosperous life.

Attorney Issues Statement.
Gardner L. Boothe, attorney for the association, gave out the following statement last night:

"The placing of the Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association in the hands of receivers is, to a certain extent,
a sequel to the appointment of receivers
for the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Company."

"The building association had discounted a number of notes at the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation in the course of its business, and some of these notes were discounted by the trust company and are now falling due. The holders of these notes are demanding payment in full, and the board of directors of the building association
found that it would be impossible to pay them at this time without sacrificing its resources."

"In addition to this fact, a number of stockholders have given notice of withdrawal, and if these withdrawals were paid, the directors felt that some of the stockholders might receive a preference.
The directors of the association might be met, that all stockholders might be placed on an equality in sharing in the assets of the association, the directors decided to ask
the court to appoint receivers for the association."

"The directors of the association decided to ask
the court to appoint receivers for the association, and it is hoped that the stockholders will receive substantial dividends."

Will Sue Trust Company.
The auditor of public accounts will file
petition in the suit of the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation, now in the hands of receivers, within the next few days, seeking to hold the directors responsible for any deficit that may occur, according to a statement made last evening by Commonwealth Attorney Samuel G. Brent.

Mr. Brent said he proposed to take action against the concern, and would do so within the next few days, or as soon as the necessary papers were received from Richmond.

Mr. Brent further stated that he visited Richmond and talked with Attorney General Williams, State Comptroller of the Corporation, chairman of the State corporation commission; Joseph Butten, insurance commissioner; and Mr. Barksdale, bank examiner, in reference to the matter, and had been advised to take what action he deemed necessary in the matter.

The receivers, together with an expert bank examiner, are now engaged in the task of going over the affairs of the concern. According to an announcement published yesterday afternoon in an Alexandria newspaper, the receivers request all persons having claims against the concern to present them as soon as possible, adding "so as to participate in the first dividend declared."

In the Corporation Court yesterday,
Judge L. C. Barter presiding in the case of Thomas J. Farnum and others against the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation, a decree was entered authorizing the attorney general of Virginia to institute suit in the Circuit Court of the city of Richmond on behalf of the Commonwealth against the receivers in the name of Thomas W. Robinson, treasurer of the city of Alexandria.

In the same court in the case of Michael J. Collier and others against the Washington National Building and Loan Association, in chancery, a decree was entered compelling and confirming the report and plan of distribution heretofore filed by the receivers, and directing the receivers to declare a dividend of 25 per cent to the various stockholders entitled thereof.
